NATIONAL DPP COVERAGE TOOLKIT

Real Solutions from Policy to Payment

THIS ONLINE RESOURCE INCLUDES A WIDE VARIETY OF TAILORED INFORMATION FOR SPECIFIC PAYER TYPES:

MAKING THE CASE FOR COVERAGE:

Information and steps for communicating the value in covering the National DPP lifestyle change program.

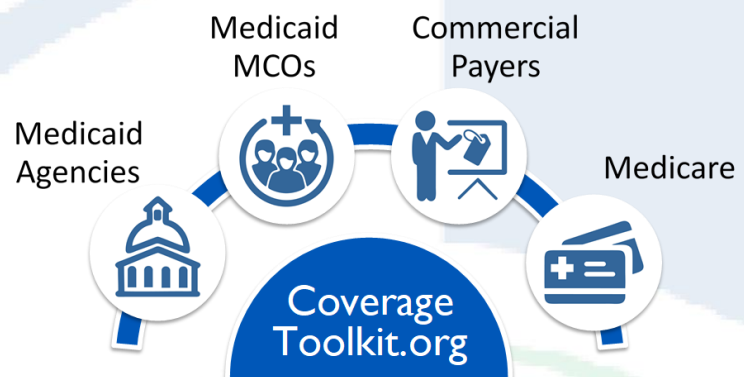

PROGRAM DELIVERY: Factors that should be considered for delivering the program, including screening and identifying potential participants, recruitment and referral, enrollment and retention, and options for program delivery.

CONTRACTING: Information about contracting among state agencies, MCOs, and CDC-recognized organizations as well as cost, reimbursement, and rate setting.

CODING AND BILLING: Processes and considerations associated with coding and billing for the program, including ICD and CPT codes and claims submission.

DATA AND REPORTING: Information about how data exchange can be organized between payers and CDC-recognized organizations to ensure proper reimbursement and protect data privacy.

The National Diabetes Prevention Program (National DPP) Coverage Toolkit helps payers and those making the case for coverage fully understand the program, navigate the steps needed to cover it, and access detailed information and resources. The Toolkit is organized according to payer type: Medicaid agencies, Medicaid managed care organizations (MCOs), commercial payers (health plans and employers), and Medicare. A virtual overview is available that describes the site's organization, provides tips for navigation, and highlights tools and resources.

“The toolkit is helpful by providing a centralized place to research program delivery, building capacity, coverage approaches, and resourceful tools”

Some of the newest and most visited content on the Coverage Toolkit can be found under the Sustainability tab. The Health Equity and the National DPP section offers guidance on how promoting health equity can support the impact and reach of the lifestyle change program and how the program itself can be used as a model and an opportunity to address health-related social needs.

The Umbrella Hub Arrangements pages describe novel innovations within health care and social services to connect community-based organizations with health care payment systems to pursue sustainable reimbursement for programs such as the National DPP.

NACDD and Leavitt Partners developed the CoverageToolkit.org with funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Division of Diabetes Translation in 2017. The Toolkit was developed as part of a demonstration project to develop Medicaid coverage models for the National DPP lifestyle change program.
